Salem's Community War Chest Campaign Is Launched

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

FOR SEVERAL DAYS now the importance of the Allied war of the air over Europe has been persistently hammered on from Washington, England and North Africa is an unusual volume of studied information.

Fascinating facts about the striking Allied achievements have been disclosed, but the equally fascinating question of why the numerous statements have been issued remains unanswered officially. However, it would seem for one thing that the material is calculated to explain the material to the American public. It might also be intended to emphasize—on the eve of the Moscow conference—the necessity of great air preparation before the establishment of that second front which the Russians are demanding.

General H. H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. Army Air Forces, returned to the subject yesterday in a protracted press conference in Washington. He gave a broad survey of the air situation, although his talk was pegged on the Schweinfurt raid. He hailed the achievements of American airmen as overwhelmingly justifying the cost in men and money.

The general said the main objective of the Allied war over Europe is to make it easier for ground troops to go in for the final dash, and save thousands of lives. There have been a point which obviously of great importance to the Moscow discussions.

He added that second only to the bombing of specific objectives is the aim to destroy the German air force. This point also has been stressed from England, disclosing that the Anglo-American air forces are now making a special drive to render Hitler's Luftwaffe helpless.

The theory is, of course, that since the Nazi air force is Hitler's chief weapon against bombing, he will be fairly impotent if it is smashed. This will expedite the destruction of that portion of Germany's war production which still remains effective. Brigadier General Frederick L. Anderson of the American bomber command in England sums the thing up like this:

"You've got to tear down the will to get at the apple. Our aim is to get the German air force out of the war first."

Anderson also disclosed that the aerial bombardment has halted the expansion of Hitler's air force through new production—its amazing performance which will shorten the war immeasurably. The Fuehrer has come down to the point of living off his own fat, that is his reserves in warplanes. Those will in due course be shot down or destroyed on the ground by bombing.

However, the main attack on the Luftwaffe is by indirectness. It's against airplane plants and factories manufacturing parts essential to planes. In other words, we are "destroying at the source."

The terrific American bomber result on the ballbearing plant at Schweinfurt was in this category. As General Arnold remarked the other day, it "struck a heart-damning blow to the entire German war production and machinery."

Where Nazis May Make Stands

MILITARY ANALYSTS PREDICT that the fall of Rome will cause the Nazis to drop back to two main defense lines. The first barrier behind which they may retire will be the Etruscan Line, which is about 50 miles deep and 140 miles wide, formed by the Apennine Mountains. Once this line is mastered, the Allies will meet the toughest natural defense obstacle in Italy—the Po River and its tributaries. The Germans have been fortifying this 250 mile line in depth ever since Italy was invaded and, military men state, much lengthy, hard fighting, will take place before this last barrier to the German frontier is broken. ### M. E. MEETINGS ARE CONTINUED

Wells Tells Audience German Pastors Don't Pray For Nazi Victory

"More than one half of the German pastors and priests openly refuse to pray for Nazi victory in their pulpits," Charles A. Wells asserted in his lecture story of "The Inside Nazi Persecution" at the Methodist church last night where a capacity audience heard the world traveler and author.

"The bitterness against Nazism is widespread, but the pulpits is the only place where the people can express it," Newspaper publishers are rigidly suppressed, he declared.

A sign of the rise in Christian thinking and the return of the German people to the religious teachings the Nazis have tried so thoroughly to stamp out is seen, the lecturer pointed out, in the hundreds of thousands of German veterans of the Russian war who flock into the churches when they are returned to the fatherland as convalescents or wounded—German youths who grew up in Nazi youth camps where religion was sneered at and derided.

Christian Forces Intact
"The Christian forces in Germany form the entire nucleus of all resistance to Nazism in the country. Contrary to popular belief," the speaker declared, "it is not the bombings of the reich which is breaking up Nazism, so much as the 'rock of ages,' for in their Christian faith and principles German people find the strength to fight."

Wells told the dramatic and inspiring story of the heroic German pastor, Martin Niemöller, who has become a living symbol of the Christian resistance to the Nazis when Hitler's new order made him a prisoner.

Wells asserted, "It is a fact that when a church has lost its pastor because of Nazi persecution, the church does not close but is packed each Sunday by thousands who find in the church the strength to fight."

CHEST AIDES BUSY IN KNOX TOWNSHIP

Earl Wang is chairman of the committee for the Knox Township Community War Chest fund drive now under way. Collection for the area has been divided into two sections.

Volunteer workers for the eastern section include Lee Galbreath, Earl Stewart, Cecil Boone, William Marshall, Lester Eagleton, J. McMichael and John Frykole.

Michael Knoll will be aided in the soliciting of the western division by S. M. Falcon, Rev. Bench Norman Baker, Paul Stoffer, Mrs. John Baker, Mrs. Kenneth Hallem and John Yaggi, Jr.

FEW BOYS SIGN FOR ARMY, NAVY EXAMS

Registration for the Army and Navy specialized training tests which will be given at the High School Nov. 9 is lagging. Principal B. G. Ludwig said today.

The slowness of registration, he explained, is due partly to the fact that only two high school students, who will have completed their work by March 1, are eligible. A number of youths in the community are eligible, however, he said, but have not appeared to sign for the examinations.

Registration before the date of the tests must be made, to enable officials to have material ready for applicants.

The specialized training programs of both services enable students to complete academic training at government expense following induction into the armed forces.

ALLIES SWEEP ACROSS RIVER

Volturro Battle Ends As Yanks, British Cross At All Points

(By Associated Press)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 19.—The battle of the Volturro river has ended in victory for the Fifth army with the American and British troops crossing the river at all points, it was announced today.

American troops captured five villages on the eastern sector of the Fifth army line in a sweeping advance of from three to five miles. Simultaneously British troops broke through the sea swept over the difficult river barrier at all points on bridges constructed by American engineers.

At the same time, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth army continued to push back the Germans and captured the towns of Santo Stefano and Montedifone in their drive from the Adriatic coast.

The Fifth army push put them astride the Tiber river where enemy resistance slackened. They captured the villages of Gioia, Liberi, Falcchio, Portofino and Albignano and also Bressa, near the west coast north of the Volturro.

The North African army force maintained its battle supremacy, hammering at the Germans from one end of the line to the other, but the biggest air news of the day was made by American bomber fleets which blasted the railroad yard at Skopje in Yugoslavia on the only railroad line running from Belgrade to Athens.

A Middle East air communiqué said that RAF heavy bombers had attacked airfields at Martiza and Calato in Rhodes Sunday night, at Kaset and Heraklion on Crete, and at Skyes harbor in the Aegean on the same night.

Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring's troops showed signs of weakness in their desperate defense against the east flank of the Fifth army line, but the five villages in rough mountain country had to be taken by bitter infantry advances.

DRIVE OPENED IN ATTEMPT TO RAISE $40,660

Campaign Workers Given Instructions at Meeting Monday Night

Salem's Community War Chest campaign got under way today as workers, under the direction of Chairman T. E. Miller and his assistant, Floyd W. McKee, set about the task of raising $40,660 following a meeting at the Memorial building last night.

"Double your last year's subscription" is the slogan of the campaign which leaders stressed at last night's meeting. This will be necessary, it was pointed out, if Salem is to meet its goal of $20,660 for community welfare agencies and $20,000 as its share of the National War fund.

Charles A. Wells, who is conducting meetings at the Methodist church this week, gave an inspiring talk to the workers, Ralph Hawley outlined some of the features of the campaign and Miller and McKee gave detailed instructions. Wells was introduced by Atty Alfred L. Fitch.

Three Fronts—One Cause

Captains were instructed to make reports each evening to Miller or Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, secretary of the Community Chest association. Captains will be called together Wednesday evening for reports to Miller, but team workers will not assemble again until the close of the campaign, which is expected to end this week.

"Three fronts—one cause" is the theme of this year's campaign. The three fronts are: Military front, including U. S. and Allied forces; Religious front, including churches and religious groups; Home front—eight Community welfare agencies. The one cause is "liberty and justice for all."

The National War fund is a wholly voluntary organization. It is not directly or indirectly an arm of the government. It is directed by an elected board of 110 citizens representing all parts of the country, and various business, labor and religious groups. It maintains a close relationship with many government departments in order to avoid duplication of relief and to develop a unified program.

All agencies must first be registered with the President's War Relief Control board and be certified by the board to the National War fund for participation. The board of directors of the fund determines what agencies shall be included and for what amounts. All budgets are reviewed in detail by the National War fund and cleared with an advisory committee.

Through the National War fund the American people are given an

Knox Says U.S. Ships Sank Or Damaged 460 Jap Ships

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—American submarines, carrying the war even into home waters of Japan, have sunk or damaged 460 Japanese vessels since the war began, the Navy announced in a communique today.

The figures, contained in a communique released by Secretary of the Navy Knox at a press conference, included 148 enemy ships not previously listed as struck by torpedoes in the war against Japanese shipping.

The Navy's totals showed that 319 Japanese ships have been sent to the bottom, 36 probably have been sunk, and 165 others damaged since Dec. 7, 1941.

The new reports of sinkings and damaging of enemy craft included 98 ships sunk, five probably sunk, and 45 damaged. Previous communique had listed 221 as sunk, 31 probably sunk, and 60 as damaged.

Knox, explaining the report of 148 additional craft sunk or damaged, said prompt announcements of sinkings by submarines provide "means of help to the enemy and then are withheld for that reason."

He added there no longer is any information of value to the enemy in the new announcements, which means that the submarines that inflicted the heavy toll have completed their war patrols.

On those patrols the submarines have operated throughout the Pacific area, and the Navy said, in "the enemy's closest home waters."

In comparison, Navy communique have listed only 123 American naval vessels lost in all oceans since the war began.

New attacks to cut even farther into the dwindling Japanese cargo fleet undoubtedly are underway, but the results probably will not be disclosed for weeks.

WORKER KILLED IN COAL MINE

Henry Richards, 62, Washingtonville, Is Crushed by Motor

Henry Richards, 62, of Washingtonville, was killed Monday afternoon in an accident in the Weikart coal mine near Washingtonville when he was crushed by a motor in the mine which he operated.

There were no witnesses to the accident. He was dead when discovered by other miners.

He was born Aug. 8, 1881, at Palmyra and had spent most of his life in Washingtonville, where he was an insurance agent for a number of years.

He is survived by his wife, Martha, three daughters, Mrs. Curtis Grindle of Washingtonville, Mrs. John Vasko of Youngstown and Mrs. Ralph Hunter of Warren; two sons, Melvin of Canfield and Corp. William Richards in Sicily; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Hoyle of Canton and Mrs. Elvira Halverstad of Leetonia; two brothers, Thomas of Rochester, Pa., Raymond of Detroit, and five grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the home in Washingtonville, in charge of Rev. W. C. Snowball. Burial will be in Oakdale cemetery at Leetonia.

Friends may call Wednesday afternoon and evening at the home.

JAP PLANE TURNS BACK IN HAWAII

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, Oct. 19.—An unidentified airplane, presumably a Japanese craft on reconnaissance, approached Barbers point on Oahu island early Sunday but sped back to sea when caught by searchlights.

The craft, apparently a small float-type monoplane, was discovered coming in toward the naval air station.

"I immediately dived in an attempt to elude the lights, reversed its course and sped out to sea at low altitude," the Navy said.

The Navy added the plane probably was launched from a submarine and that its mission was believed to have been unsuccessful.

The last previous reported appearance of an enemy plane over Oahu island, on which Honolulu and Pearl Harbor are located, was in March, 1942, when three or four bombs were dropped harmlessly in a wooded region.

G.O.P. Action Kills Further Tax Increase

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Republican members of the tax-framing house ways and means committee took a solid stand today against any further federal taxes on individual or corporate incomes, in effect killing outright the administration's $10,500,000,000 new tax program.

In a statement issued by Rep. Knutson (R., Minn.), the Republicans proposed a program of government economy, instead of further tax increases.

The statement made no mention of sales tax proposals, but one Republican member said "that issue is dead."

Knutson said his statement was issued on behalf of the 10 Republicans on the 25-member ways and means committee.

Death Blow Dealt

In view of known opposition by a bloc of Democrats to the administration's program, which proposes increases in individual and corporate income rates and larger excise levies, the Republican statement was viewed as dealing the death blow to the program.

The treasury has failed to justify its proposal to add an additional $10,500,000,000 to our tax load," the statement said. "On the other hand, witness after witness has shown conclusively that an increase in taxes at this time would probably undermine our whole economy."

"We do not wish to assume the responsibility for doing anything that will weaken the nation's war effort," the statement concluded.

LABOR PARLEY DUE THURSDAY

President Calls for Conference As Railroad Strike Looms

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—President Roosevelt today summoned labor leaders to a conference on Thursday to discuss labor's demands for higher wages with a probable view of heading off a threatened nation-wide strike ballot by railroad workers.

Labor sources said the White House called the meeting of what is known as the combined Labor War board, consisting of representatives of the CIO, the AFL and the independent railroad brotherhoods.

A spreading restlessness among the railroad workers over failure to win their wage demands threatens to develop into an order for a strike ball soon, but the decision is believed to depend largely on the attitude of the five operating brotherhoods whose representatives meet in Chicago late this week.

Whether or not a strike vote is taken, authoritative quarters consider an authorized strike remote. However, the poll may be conducted to relieve the employees' restlessness temporarily and point up their dissatisfaction over current wage-adjustment negotiations.

Executives of the 15 non-operating unions are considering several possibilities, including appeals to the courts and to Congress, seeking to override Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson, who set aside an eight-cent-an-hour general increase recommended for non-operating workers by an emergency board last May.

Members of these 15 unions, most of which are AFL affiliates and representing the great majority of railroad workers, are divided on the advisability of issuing a strike ballot, but any indication of such action by the five operating groups, who are scheduled to meet on Friday, may force their hand for psychological reasons.

In the case of the five operating brotherhoods, an emergency board last month recommended an increase of four cents an hour.

ALLIED HEADS PLUNGE INTO TASKS AHEAD

Tri-Partite Conference Hints of 'Second Front' Discussions

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Oct. 19.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, highest United States official ever to visit Moscow, plunged quickly today into the war's first full dress tri-partite conference, meeting with L.S. British and Russian counterparts, Anthony Eden and Vyacheslav Molotov, only a few hours after concluding his 14,000-mile flight to the Russian capital.

As the foreign secretaries settled down to the first day's business, the Soviet press turned the spotlight on the long awaited get-together, at which the Russians consider a "second front" in western Europe an important topic.

Despite their long, hard trip, Hull and Eden were eager to begin the discussions with Molotov. Both the American and British foreign officials expect the conference to lay the groundwork for future conversations among United Nations leaders.

Muscovites stood in long lines to purchase newspapers, all of which splashed pictures of Hull, Eden and Molotov at the airport clear across the bottom of the front pages.

The Moscow press front-paged the statements made by Hull and Eden upon their arrival, but the newspapers did not comment editorially on the conference.

Hull's First Plans Trip

The U. S. secretary of state, who made his first airplane trip to get here, arose early and ate his favorite breakfast of American rolled oats. It took considerable effort to locate the rolled oats; an American supply mission furnished six boxes to solve the problem.

Preliminary discussions were held at the Kremlin last evening shortly after the arrival of the American and British visitors at the Moscow airport.

It was announced that the first real business session would take place this afternoon between representatives of the three nations, who are expected to discuss not only wartime but post-war matters of a military, political and economic nature.

A joint three-power statement was issued at 11 o'clock last night announcing personnel of the delegations.

"It gives me special satisfaction to visit Moscow, the capital of a great country united with my own in a common cause," Hull said.

"I also have a pleasing opportunity of returning the visit to Washington of the Soviet foreign minister, Mr. Molotov, and I am looking forward to the conversations with him and Mr. Eden."

Eden said: "I am very happy to come back to Moscow for this conference and to have this opportunity of returning the visit paid by Mr. Molotov to London last year."

HALLOWEEN HOODLUMS IN WARTIME

Property damage committed in the abused name of Halloween still is a waste of material and time. It cannot be tolerated in wartime.

There is one direct approach to this annual October problem which has been used too rarely. Halloween hoodlums in most cases are of local origin, well known in their own neighborhoods. They are the product of parental neglect. The solution, therefore, is to make the indifferent parents accountable for the whereabouts of their own offspring—not necessarily to the police, who should be reserved for emergencies, but to their own neighbors.

In other words, if windows are being broken and street lights shattered at midnight, if lattice work is being splintered and buildings defaced, where is Junior, the terror of the neighborhood? If Junior is not in bed and not on the premises—if he cannot be produced on demand nor accounted for—then he is subject to suspicion. A little direct action along this line probably would do more to curb property destruction and public nuisances in the latter half of October than all the general police warnings issued since the days when Halloween belonged to the elves and sprites.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE IS NOT A GAME

Pennsylvania's decision to take blackouts and test alerts off its civilian defense schedule because they no longer can be justified by the circumstances of the war is sound. Ohio, it may be assumed, will follow suit. Civilian defense is not a game. The public has done a great many things under civilian defense direction that it did not hold strictly necessary at the time, but has been willing for the most part to assume it was better to play safe than be sorry.

It has been obvious for a long time that unless something was being concealed, the danger of air raids has reached the minimum. Until the war is over, anything might happen, but the things likely to happen do not now include air raids in force on any part of the United States, least of all on any part lying hundreds of miles from the sea coasts.

Under the circumstances, continuation of exercises calculated to accustom the public to air raid conditions would begin to look more like something being done by civilian defense to keep busy than something made necessary by wartime prudence. Civilian defense in this state, as elsewhere, must adjust itself to new conditions.

THE PEOPLE'S FOREIGN POLICY

The American people reject the claim that they have no right to express opinions about foreign policy. They deny that the free expression of their likes and dislikes is hurtful to American interests. They put no faith in alliance so delicate and tenuous that only diplomats in silk hats and kid gloves may be permitted to talk about them.

They contend—and with complete justification—that foreign policy, like domestic policy, belongs to the people and should be put into effect and maintained only with popular consent. They are showing a healthy curiosity about their government's relations with its allies in the war and about the known intentions of those allies relative to the United States. This curiosity is one of the most encouraging omens of peace to emerge so far from the hurly-burly of war. It opens the door to a course in democratic education on a subject which hitherto has been surrounded with too many of the aspects of witch-doctoring.

The people's instinct for peaceful collaboration is strong. The people cannot be charged with the errors and machinations which in the past have led them into war and may do so again in the future. It is their growing awareness of those errors of the past which is stimulating them in their quest for facts and realities against the recurrence of similar mistakes in the future. If isolationism is dead—and it is—then the people must be prepared to deal with the realities of internationalism. There can be no accord between and among governments unless the people whose welfare is in the hands of their governments understand what is going on. Foreign policy belongs to those who profit by its successes and suffer from its failures.

REPAIR WORK

Congress this week will decide whether to perform some overdue repair work on Asiatic relations—repair of various acts by which Chinese are barred by name from immigration to the United States. Perhaps no single act in the nation's history has been a more deeply resented insult to a foreign nation.

Various laws bar Chinese from the United States, as members of the yellow and other races are barred generally. But only the Chinese are specifically. They have called attention to the slur repeatedly, pointing out that if it were removed the quota system still would allow only 105 Chinese immigrants a year. They do not object to their inability to enter the country in numbers, but only to their specific exclusion.

In recognition of China's position as a vitally important member of the United Nations, the law barring Chinese by name should be repealed. President Roosevelt has asked that this be done and also that Chinese nationals already here be made eligible for citizenship. This remedial step is long overdue and should be taken promptly and as gracefully as possible.

INTERNATIONAL INFERIORITY COMPLEX

In the absence of direct testimony it is a good guess that many Russians are worrying lest the ruthless Americans and Englishmen out-slicker them in the diplomatic conferences just getting under way in Moscow.

According to William Benton, vice president of University of Chicago, home from a tour of Great Britain, the English are deeply concerned over what they see as signs that the United States is going to out-manuever them in competition for post-war trade and negotiations with Russia. They think, he explains, that the United States has a greater capacity for leadership and for developing leaders than they have.

Here at home, of course, it is popularly supposed that between Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill the United States is going to be taken to the cleaners and robbed of everything but its gullibility. To hear the common talk on the subject, America in international dealings is the counterpart of the town idiot being victimized by the sharp lads who hang out at the poolroom. But meanwhile there is good reason to believe the families of the sharp lads are full of similar misgivings. An international inferiority complex is beginning to look like a more formidable obstacle to friendly relations than tariff barriers.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, October 20

THIS DAY may be notable for the removal of a static condition or the breaking up of some tenacious obstacle, of long endurance. Or it may bring some reward of merit for faithful service and serious application. Or an inheritance or worthwhile gift from elders or superiors. Business should flourish, and investments should find stability with financial increase. It is a propitious time for working toward this end, especially in stocks and bonds or real estate.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which their affairs are placed on a stable and enduring basis. There may be gifts or inheritance from elders or employers in token of appreciation for faithful service rendered. Old obstacles or stagnations may be removed or real estate or investments attain sound values. Steady and serious work should bring lasting results.

A child born on this day should be serious, steady and work for lasting results, being responsible and having good organizing ability.

We (Republicans) cannot win by a process of negotiation. We must offer an affirmative program both as to domestic policy and as to relations of the United States with the rest of the world.—Wendell L. Wilkie.

In the post-war world our problem will be how to supply the goods for the world's empty shelves. On our domestic front the consumer debt will be near the vanishing point, and our people will be possessed of tremendous buying power due to the ownership of bonds.—Capt. Henry H. Heilmann, U. S. N., peacetime manager National Association of Credit Men.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Home Prescribing for Digestive Ills

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I SPOKE yesterday of the irascible human tendency for certain people to doctor themselves, especially doctor their digestive troubles. And since it is inevitable,

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

And although I deplore—as well as the rest of the medical profession—home doctoring, I am inclined to look on the bright side of it.

There are several bright sides. In the first place, the stomach is the center of nearly all human deviations from the smooth way of life—it is the alarm clock of trouble.

If you are tired, you have no appetite. If you hear bad news, you are sick at your stomach. If you lose your job, you have diarrhea for a few days. None of these things mean anything serious, but the condition excites sympathy and gives Uncle Henry or Mother or Aunt Lucy a chance to try some remedy on you and before long you are better.

Stomach Remedies Harmless. Besides, and this is an advantage to the home doctor, all the stomach remedies are pretty harmless. You start monkeying around with heart remedies or nerve remedies, headache remedies or pelvic remedies and before long you are going to find yourself with a poisoning case on your hands. But you can't get into much trouble with diet or sodium bicarbonate or pepsin.

The only class of digestive drugs that you might get into trouble with are the cathartics. There have been some cases of poisoning in children from eating a whole bottle of little sugar-coated caustics containing a drastic purge.

Danger of Cathartics. Then there is one other danger of the amateur prescribing a cathartic—a danger I have mentioned before in this column, but which bears repetition. That is giving a cathartic in the presence of a pain or discomfort. The discomfort, no matter how trivial it feels, may be appendicitis, and a cathartic is likely to rupture a diseased appendix and cause a spreading peritonitis. Cathartics are all right if there is no pain in the abdomen and there hasn't been any action for several days, but beware of them when someone comes to you and says, "Say, I've got a billy-ache. What kind of salts would be good for it?"

But good old bicarbonate of soda—what a wonderful household remedy. When you're feeling a little nauseated in the morning, or things are not just right, or that meal you got at the lunch counter doesn't sit the way it should, take down the bottle. One tablet, or one half teaspoonful in a glass of warm water. Stir well. Hold to the light to see that it is completely dissolved. Then when ready—taste it. Don't gulp it. Sip it—small sips by small sips. And after each swallow say, "Ah! that's the stuff." Before the glass is one the discomfort is gone, and no matter what is the matter with you, it won't do you any harm.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. D. G.: In your "Questions and Answers" you state that "long exposure to a high degree of infra-red or ultra-violet light is the only form of light or heat which will cause cataract." Could the use of a sun light for 10 or 15 minutes every day cause cataract?

Answer: In my column from July 19 to 30, I did not even mention cataract or ultra-violet light. If you read it there it must be a misprint. Ultra-red or ultra-violet light will cause inflammation of the conjunctiva, or outside layer of the eye. I would appreciate your sending the clipping to which you refer to Dr. Logan Clendening, 1247 West 56th Street, Kansas City, Missouri.

D. M. E.: Does going without a hat in summer weather cause baldness?

Answer: No.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Intelligence and Constitution," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Wives Bring High Holy Land Prices

(By United Press)

JERUSALEM — Prosperity has brought its own problems to sections of the native population in the Holy Land, and the latest baffling poser for young and matrimonially-minded people is the high price of wives.

The time-honored custom of fathers getting dowries for their daughters, instead of dowering their daughters upon marriage, has assumed the aspect of a "boom."

No longer is the Moslem paterfamilias with an abundance of daughters to be pitied as an ineffective son-maker; he is envied by fathers of boys.

The more marriageable daughters a Palestinian father has, the bigger his fortune is likely to become.

One villager in the vicinity of Gaza, where Deiliah sheared Samson's locks to facilitate the Philistine blitzkrieg, is just reported to have paid $1,000 for a bride. The pre-boom dowry was never above $50-60; in fact, a pedigreed cow used to be more expensive than a wife.

There is even a "black market" in brides among the Bedouin tribes, adds the report. Once a willing helpmate was obtained from her father for $15; now prices are $250. Many of the semi-nomads cannot afford to marry.

The British gallon is almost 20 per cent larger than the U. S. gallon.

Wells Speaks To Book Club On War Crisis

Charles A. Wells paid tribute to American industry but stressed the fact that this nation "is lagging spiritually and intellectually" when he spoke to members of Book club yesterday afternoon at the library assembly room.

He also told of his escape from "blitzed" Poland and his impressions upon his arrival in America in contrast with those of Poland. He cited the views of prominent Americans toward our outcome in the present crisis and our added responsibilities. He was introduced by Rev. Robert Mosher.

Mrs. W. P. Davis gave an interesting paper on "The Modern Woman" which was followed with a paper, "Famous Women Yesterday and Today" prepared by Mrs. David Egan and read by Mrs. Frank Brudery. Prominent women included in the review were Jane Addams, Florence Nightingale, Helen Keller, Eleanor Roosevelt and Mme. Curie.

Music on the program included vocal selections, "Goodbye" and "Kitty of Coleraine" by Miss Priscilla Beery, accompanied by Miss Ann Helm; piano solo, "Malaguena" by Mary Lou Vincent; violin solos, "Air" from "Goldmark Serenade Opus 85" and "Tempo Diminuendo" (Fritz Kreisler) by Jay Hanna accompanied by Grace Pyles.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 1.

Junior Music Study Club Entertained

Music of the British Isles was the theme of the program when James Cope was hostess to members of the Junior Music Study club last evening at his home on the Depot rd.

The program included a piano solo, "Allegretto" (Beethoven) by Florence Mawhinney; bell lyre solo, "White Christmas," Jeanne Walsh; vocal selection, "Coming In On a Wing and a Prayer," Lee Spratt; trumpet solo, "I Tell You Home Again Kathleen," Eugene Mueller; piano number, "Lento" (Cyril Scott), Grace Pyles; Miss Mawhinney, Miss Walsh and Lee Spratt were new members taken into the club.

Jay Hanna told of the life of Arthur Sullivan and how the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers," came to be written. Mrs. Allen Lowe of Cleveland, former radio soloist, sang "Indian Love Call" and a number of popular selections followed with a duet with her brother, James Cope. The program was closed with group singing of Welsh, Scotch and Irish tunes after which refreshments were served by the host with Halloween appointments.

The group will meet in two weeks.

Driscoll-Mallott Wedding Revealed

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Jean Lou Driscoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Driscoll of the Lisbon rd., and Bruce Mallott, son of Mrs. Anna Mallott of S. Lincoln ave., Oct. 11 at Marietta, Ga., by Rev. J. C. McCullum.

The bride wore an old rose princess styled street-length dress with blue accessories and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

The couple will be at home at 429 Ashland drive, Atlanta, Ga., after Nov. 1.

Mrs. Mallott attended Leontia High school and Mr. Mallott, formerly of the Chisholm store in Salem, is employed in Georgia in a defense plant.

CHURCH MEETING

appear in silent protest against such treatment, expressing their opposition to Nazi practices and policies. They overflow the buildings and stand in the streets and courtyards Sunday afternoon.

Cited as Only Hope

"Just as Christian thinking here gives balance and judgment, Christian thinking in Germany is the only hope for the world." It is an accepted fact that our government definitely plans after the war to reconstruct the German state on a basis of the German Christian leaders who have risen in the struggle between Nazism and Christianity, the speaker pointed out.

Explaining the only protection which the Jews have had in Germany has been in the Christians who offered them help and aid whenever possible, Wells said, immediately on the opening of Hitler's anti-Jewish campaign, the church rose in defiance on the question. "The belief that all Germans hate Jews is absurd," for the wealth of Christian people in Germany has been used to relieve the Nazi-inflicted tortures of the Jewish people.

Many people have thought that the Christians in Germany should stop Hitler, but, Wells asked, is it not reasonable to suppose that Hitler may have deceived them as he deceived the French and British governments who once accepted him as the savior of Germany? When it appeared certain that Germany would become a Bolshevik state or something else, England and France hailed Hitler as the new strong man in Germany who had saved the country from Communism.

Sought Church Support

Early in Hitler's regime a poster designed by the Fuehrer was circulated showing the face of a dead German soldier backed by crosses and bearing the inscription, "Three million and a half of us already have died. Today we are waiting in our graves for the fulfillment of German hopes." The poster was planned to enlist the churches in the war Hitler was waging, capitalizing on the loss of men in the first world war.

The American policy has been to avoid any mention whatsoever of the "men who sleep in Flanders field," which Wells believes is a mistake, for the Nazis have found the way to tie in the broken hopes of the first war with the aims of this, hoping in that way to delude the churches into support.

However, the lecture went on, the church countered with a poster of its own showing only the skull of a dead German soldier before the crosses, inscribing its poster, "Despair." Nazis viciously opposed the circulation of the church poster but it accomplished its purpose.

"In Germany," Wells asserted, "the great Jews and the religious leaders are closely allied, in spite of Hitler's attempts to manufacture separation. Here anti-Semitism may be felt in the public mind, but Christian and Jewish leaders are cooperating intelligently and skillfully to nullify the insidious, underhand things which would do the damage to Hitler's satisfaction."

Now's the Time To Plan That Future Home

BY GRACE MARTIN

LIVING IN A DUMP? Paying through the nose for an inadequate apartment? Getting along for the duration in an old-fashioned family home?

Then you are—or ought to be—a post-war planner. And I envy you.

If there is any brand of planning more fun than the planning of a new home, I don't know about it. To really plan, and not just build castles in the air, you must save and you must study. If you cannot get together the price of a lot or the amount of a down payment BEFORE the time comes to build or buy, you probably never will later. There will be little excuse, if you are drawing war project wages, for not earmarking some bonds for your dream house. And if the war has brought you privations rather than profits, you may still be able to put something aside—providing you want to so badly that you are willing to concentrate on the one objective.

Fun In Planning In any case, there always is the fun of planning.

For that you must make a conscious effort. Go at it systematically. Get a house plan notebook and a scrap book. Start watching and keep a record of the things you see in plans in housekeeping magazines. Rummage through books at the library. (A book such as "Houses for Good Living," by Royal Barry Wills, should be useful.) Scan the advertisements for ideas. It will amaze you—all the things about houses that you never thought of before.

Maybe your fancy will be caught by Modern design or by tales of collapsible, removable, indestructible, expandable homes now in the big time planning hoppers. Now is the time to investigate. Make sure that you want a flat-topped efficiency bandbox and not the kind of old-fashioned place that your father once built.

The same holds true of location. If you know exactly where you want to live in another neighborhood, or another city, or most drastic change of all in another environment—such as a farming section for a city family—start investigating.

OPA Questions And Answers Concerning Ration Book No. 4

Who can get a War Ration book No. 4? Where will you get it? When? How?

To answer questions surrounding issue of the new book, the Office of Price Administration prepared the following questions and answers:

Q. Where should I go to get my copy of Book 4?

A. War Ration Book 4 will be distributed through school or public buildings the week of Oct. 24-30.

Q. May one person get copies of War Ration book 4 for the entire family?

A. Yes. One individual may obtain War Ration book 4 for all members of the family who live at the same address.

Q. What should I take with me when I apply for Book 4?

A. Bring War Ration book three for each member of the family. Book 3 will serve as a speedy and convenient method of establishing identity.

Q. Are there any exceptions to the requirement that Book 3 must be presented to obtain Book 4?

A. No. All persons who apply for Book 4 must have on hand their copy of Book 3. If they also apply for other members of the family, they must present the Book 3 issued to these individuals.

Q. I was overseas most of the summer and did not get a copy of Book 3. How will I be able to get Book 4?

A. Apply at your local rationing board for a copy of Book 3. This should be done immediately, as it takes several days to handle an application of this type.

Q. My copy of Book 3 was lost several days ago. How do I go about getting another one?

A. Application for a replacement of Book 3 should be made at your local board.

Q. Will Book 4 be issued to members of the armed forces?

A. Yes. Members of the armed forces who were eligible for Book 3 because of their regular need for ration stamps to buy rationed foods, may obtain Book 4 if their status has not changed.

Q. Why isn't Book 4 being mailed to consumers, as was the case with Book 3?

A. Schools are being asked to distribute the new book, as there was insufficient time between completion of mailing Book 3 and the Barber and family of the Salem-North Georgetown road.

Mrs. Frank Baird of Deerfield is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dwight Phillips and family.

Kenneth and Miss Eileen Phillips are visiting their sister, Mrs. James Tatsch and family of Arba, Ind.

Corp. and Mrs. James Wilson of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yates and daughter of Salem, and Mrs. Kate Biery of Snodens were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Yates, Wednesday.

Salem Among 15 Ohio Schools With Unmarried Records

PERFECT RECORDS MAY BE WRECKED BY FUTURE GAMES

Massillon Holds Rating As Top-Notcher, State Survey Shows

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Oct. 19.—There probably will be quite an argument this fall about Ohio's high school football championship, unless the late season games wreck some of the perfect records.

About 15 schools have won five in a row this season, and several others have taken all four starts. Among the top-notchers is Massillon, which last year topped from the top for the first time in seven years. The terrific Tigers defeated Alliance Friday night by 12 to 0 for their fifth straight conquest.

Others in the five-victory class include Salem, Lorain, North Ridge, Berea, Van Wert, Marion, Newark, Toledo Whittier, Uhrichsville, Canton, St. Johns, Toledo, Waite, Youngstown Boardman, Bexley and Norton.

With four straight are such clubs as Olmsted Falls, Versailles, Hamilton and Ashland, Olmsted Falls having an undefeated streak of 20 games, and Versailles 12 in a row. Boardman was won 18 straight.

Leading Scorers
Canton St. Johns Johnny Tillet, although held to seven points in the 20-7 win over North Canton, still places the state's scorer with 84 points, while big Jim Reibel of Grove City is among the leaders with 71. Charles (Chuck) Ebersbacher of Boardman, who scored two weeks ago on runs of 90, 65, 45 and 23 yards, and who twice has carried opening kickoff for more than 90 yards, was shut out Saturday and clung to his 54-point total.

North Ridge, which smothered West Milton under a 73 to 6 avalanche last week, upped its five-game total to 236 against 18 for the opposition—the No. 1 scoring record for Buckeye squads. Newark's Wildcats, with three central Ohio league victories among their five conquests, have counted 126 to 6 for the conference opponents.

Suffer First Defeats
Xenia Central, Columbus Aquinas, Bellefontaine, Shelby and Youngstown East were among the powerhouses going down to defeat for the first time last weekend. Bellefontaine, although whipped 32 to 7, succeeded in scoring the first points of the campaign against Van Wert's outstanding team. Marion, with five straight, has allowed only one touchdown while rolling up a 101 to 6 point edge.

Among the sidelights were: Warren's Presidents were handed an even 100 yards in penalties, but emerged with a 20-6 win over Youngstown Raven.

Bill Van Horne, Martins Ferry sports editor, suffered a sprained ankle while covering a game; Coach Woody Wills of Gallipolis went to the Navy as an ensign;

Former Star Robert Affolter of New Philadelphia, now an Army sergeant, killed an 800-pound crazy bear with his army rifle in Alaska; And Marietta used its sub to subdue Chillicothe 28 to 0 after Coach Frank Sutton benched three of his players for cutting classes.

Carl Snavely's Cornell eleven won 35 games, lost 18 and tied three during his first seven years at Ithaca.

Harvesting the nation's corn crop this year calls for more than 217 million man-hours.

The Althouse team of the Quaker City league marked up the first game over the thousand mark this season when it hit 1045 in the third game of its series with the Bowling Center team on the Center alleys last night.

Ernie Althouse led the way with 235, followed by Art Haessly with 223 and Earl Grate with 206. The team's first game of 796 spoiled a good series total.

Gondas remained on top in this league by winning two, Camps winning the same number and remaining one game behind. However, Howdys moved from sixth place to a tie for second by winning three.

In the American League on the Masonic alleys, Fernengels and Demings split even, with two points each, last night and Fernengels still maintained their one-game advantage over the pump makers. The extra point for total pins went to Fernengels by one pin.

Explains Black Eye

LIBERTY, Mo., Oct. 19.—Rev. Carl Burkhardt appeared in his pulpit Sunday with a lustrous black eye, but the church members needed no explanation.

Burkhardt, a student at William Jewell college, had played Saturday at center on the William Jewell football team, which defeated Kansas State 19-6.

Stevens Says They're Alike

Football Tactics And War

AP Features

U. S. NAVAL TRAINING STATION, Sampson, N. Y.—Football strategy is being used all over the world today in tactics designed to outsmart the enemy—so football training should be invaluable in the training of our armed forces.

That's the opinion of Lieut. Commander Mal Stevens, former football coach of Yale and New York University and now mentor of the Naval Training station team here.

"Most of our great admirals and generals—Halsey, Eisenhower and MacArthur, for instance—were football players," says Mal.

"The individual strategy and thinking as a result of football training and conditioning, make for faster and clearer decisions, he believes.

Russian Mousetrap
Football in many instances simulates battle conditions. "The Russians," he says, have been using the old mousetrap play right along—"drawing the enemy in and then encircling and side swiping." Our Navy "did an end run around Sicily" and the old wedge play "is the split and divide German method."

The air barrage "helps soften up defenses in battle the same as in football, disorganizing the secondary defense." All in all, says Stevens, "war" and football demand highly organized team play in addition to raw physical courage.

However, Mal believes football worth while in the service if for no other purpose than the entertainment of thousands of boys who are in outgoing units headed for sea duty.

Though he thought his dream of a huge squad was realized when 500 players answered his first call, only about 50 of these show up daily.

"I guess I'm out of the frying pan and into the fire," says Mal. "Before, my big problem was trying to get N. Y. U. players out to the field on time, keeping them in school and in condition despite city life."

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Lou's "T" party—Lou Little, whose Columbia boys did a swell job of holding Army's men for the first half Saturday, explained his theories of defense against the "T" formation to the local football scribes and coaches yesterday.

The old T-2 defense put the "T" clear out of football until Ralph Jones and Red Grange conceived the man-in-motion version, Little explained. "The idea of the formation is that when they send that man out, they want you to send someone with him," he continued, so what Lou did was to tell his linemen to stay a half yard back of the scrimmage line where they couldn't easily be split by quick-opening line plays and to refuse to fall for that bait.

"Does that mean you just ignore the man in motion?" asked spherical Steve Owen, whose Giants take on the Philly eagles "T" next Sunday. Lou said no, a halfback covers him. "Oh," gasped Steve, "sometimes I wish I could ignore him."

Al De Santis, Schenectady (N. Y.) Union-Star: "The St. Louis Cardinals of 1943 won the National League pennant by 18 games to enter the classic fall."

Showing the difference between a series-winning manager and a second string catcher, Joe McCarthy was made an honorary member of the St. Louis police force yesterday—and Buddy Rosar got nothing but the bounce from the Yankees when he tried for an ordinary patrolman's job a while back.

The Berlin radio reports that Kurt Haymann, who was a pretty good heavyweight boxer, has been killed in action on the eastern front.

After watching Navy against Duke, Joe Bedenk, veteran Penn State line coach, described Dan Whitmire as "the greatest tackle I've seen in 25 years." Wonder what he says now.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Knecht, he was born in Bern, Switzerland, Sept. 10, 1873, and had lived on the Edith Oesch farm, R. D. 1, Columbiana, for the past 40 years. He was a member of the Lutheran church in Switzerland.

He is survived by one sister, Miss Elizabeth Knecht of Chicago; one brother, Frederick of Skidmore, Mo. Funeral service will be held at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Fry funeral home in charge of Rev. Clarence J. Haas, pastor of the Nazarene church at Columbiana. Burial will be in the Hanoverton cemetery.

Friends may call from 7 to 9:30 this evening at the funeral home.

CO-ED MOTHER, 60, RETURNS TO SCHOOL

(By United Press)

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Most parents think their children should have a college education, but it's news when a son insists that his mother go to college.

That's just what happened in the case of Mrs. Julia Minton, who will fulfill a lifelong ambition when she receives her bachelor of Science degree in education from Arkansas university.

Mrs. Minton evidently believes that a woman who will tell her age will tell anything, but she hints archly that she "is well over 60."

She put her son and daughter through school and often took summer courses herself at the university—just for the fun of going to school. Last September, her son suggested that she return to school and get her degree.

Mrs. Minton has as much vigor as most coeds and confides she keeps keeps fit by taking a cold shower every morning. She is enrolled in a basic mathematics course which is required of air crew trainees and deals entirely in terms of flight work.

"Why, I might be flying airplanes before this war is over," she smiles.

Akron Rubber Plants Will Produce More Civilian Articles

(By Associated Press)

AKRON, Oct. 19.—At least two Akron rubber concerns are beginning to convert war production facilities to manufacture of goods for civilian use.

Hundreds of workers are being transferred from the manufacture of war goods to production for civilians as the industry prepares to work toward the government's goal of 30,000,000 synthetic passenger automobile tires, a survey indicated today.

About 1,000 employees are being released for work on civilian goods with the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.'s decision to move its self-sealing gasoline tank division to a leased plant at Zanesville.

Some of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. operations have been moved to New Bedford, Mass., and Lincoln, Neb., freeing other hundreds of workers for tire production here.

The B. F. Goodrich Co. is expected to resume partial production of rubber gloves, heels and raincoats. General Tire & Rubber Co. never has curtailed its tire production, but its output has been mainly for war vehicles.

The 1944 program calls for 60,000,000 tires, including the 30,000,000 passenger car tires.

The industry expects no large-scale synthetic tire production for about six months, but by that time it is expected an additional 5,000 workers will be transferred to tire jobs from war work that has been or will be moved to cities not in critical manpower areas.

MOSCOW MEETING

discussed here are a matter of speculation, it was recalled that the Communist party organ, Pravda, declared last week the Russians intend to use the meeting to broach the issue of a "second front"; by which they mean the opening of an Allied offensive across the English Channel and the North sea.

It is not Russia's intention at this time, Pravda added, to discuss post-war frontiers or the status of the Baltic states "any more than the borders of the United States or the status of California."

(Despite this assertion by Pravda, the view prevailed generally in Washington today that the meeting is expected to deal largely with post-war political problems.)

First to arrive at the flag-bedecked airport was the 72-year old U. S. se retary of state. He was welcomed by Molotov, Maxim Litvinoff, vice commissar of foreign affairs, and former Russian ambassador to the United States, was next to grasp Hull's hand.

"It's marvellous the way your armies have been fighting," Hull said to Molotov. "You've pushed them right back," he added.

A few minutes after Hull arrived the British plane which bore Eden landed. He was greeted immediately by Molotov, Litvinoff and other dignitaries.

Others in Party

Accompanying Hull and Eden included W. Averell Harriman, newly named U. S. ambassador to the Soviet union; Green Hackworth, U. S. state department counsel; James Dunn, political adviser; Maj. Gen. John Dean, U. S. Army; William Strang, British assistant under secretary for foreign affairs; and Lt. Gen. Sir Hastings Ismay, chief of staff of the British minister of defense. Harriman's daughter, Kathleen, also accompanied him.

As soon as Hull arrived a band at the field began playing a Russian march and Hull, Molotov, Litvinoff, Harriman, and Col. Gen. Filip I. Golikov, the captor of Voronezh, reviewed a guard of honor from the Moscow garrison. The band then broke into the Star Spangled Banner and followed with the Internationale.

On his way to Spassk house, home of the American ambassador, Hull noticed a railway station and asked "where is this?" if this was the station where one took a train for Berlin. He was told that it was. "Well," he said, "the way the Red army is going," they are going in the right direction."

It is as yet undecided whether Harriman will present his credentials as ambassador at once or after the conference ends.

opportunity to meet essential needs on three fronts by contributing funds to support the following activities:

USC services to our armed forces, to meet their recreational welfare and spiritual needs in off-duty hours.

The United Seamen's services, providing recreation for men of the merchant marine while ashore, and rest and convalescent homes for the victims of sea disaster.

Services to war prisoners—young men whose future usefulness is endangered if they must exist on established war prisoner conventions. Comforts, recreational and educational opportunities are provided for these men.

Surgical and medical supplies for our fighting allies in Russia and China.

Provision for food and medical supplies, insofar as possible to distribute them, in Greece, Poland and Yugoslavia.

Support of hospitals, nurseries, children's homes, ambulances and emergency kitchens in England and the French colonies.

Direct aid to the starving Chinese. Maintenance of educational and technical institutions for the training of doctors and nurses to serve the Chinese people.

Protection of health of women in war work in two hemispheres.

The care of child evacuees. These, and countless similar calls, are the concern of generous America, and the immediate task of the National War fund.

SAYING YES MEANS:

Doing the wisest shopping of your life by buying more War Bonds.

Helping to pay for more rafts of the kind which saved Rickenbacker.

Keeping our fighters well equipped, and well fed to defeat a cruel foe.

Lost 60 'Forts' On Raid But Dealt Blow To Nazis

Here is the first picture of that large-scale attack by U. S. Flying Fortresses on the German ball-bearing plants at Schweinfurt Oct. 14 in which 60 "Forts" valued at nearly $30,000,000, were lost and 593 crew members are missing. The plants had been a pre-eminent target on the list of German undertakings marked for destruction because they had made at least half of the ball-bearings manufactured in Europe and 75 per cent of those manufactured in Germany itself. Bombs are bursting on (1) Kugelfischer factory; (2) Vereinigte Kugellager Fabriken plant No. II; (3) Vereinigte Kugellager Fabriken plant No. 1; (4) Fischel and Sachs. This is a radiophoto.

maintenance program." This is because some 75 per cent of the ballbearings made in Germany were manufactured in this great plant, and all types of moving machinery like airplanes, tanks, trucks and what not are dependent on ball bearings.

Such destruction is bound to have a catastrophic cumulative effect. Indeed, Brigadier General Curtis E. LeMay, commander of the United States heavy bombardment division in Britain, declares German industry will be so smashed by spring that the Nazis won't be able to fight any longer on land or sea in the air. One of the most important aspects of the situation is that the air experts say the bombing will continue throughout the winter, despite the bad flying weather which western Europe produces.

Will the Russians be satisfied to await the opening of a "second front" until the western allies have ironed Hitler out further? That's one of the most important questions which the Moscow conference has to answer.
